

FMC BioPolymer Sponsors Footwear for Farmers 2009

For 20 years FMC BioPolymer's Raw Material Group has worked with coastal residents of Zanzibar to train them in the sustainable livelihood of seaweed farming, and in the last few years FMC has worked closely with these farmers to boost their productivity through training in best farming practices, improved farming systems, developing technology, and safety/health awareness. These initiatives have led to a dramatic rise in production and productivity.

- ✓ In 2009 FMC BioPolymer ran a "Footwear for Farmers" campaign to raise money among employees to purchase rubber boots for farmers. These boots protect their feet from sharp rocks, sea urchins and stingrays, promoting safety and productivity.
- ✓ FMC BioPolymer matched those funds and was able to buy 500 pairs of boots for farmers.

